Module M1-9 Review Quiz

1. When creating Multiline text, what do the two points you select define?

a. The height of the text.
b. The text's position and the width of the text lines.
c. The text's rotation angle.
d. The text's thickness.

2. What occurs when you double-click a text object?

a. The Properties palette opens.
b. The text becomes editable.
c. The text is exploded.
d. The text updates to match the current text style.

3. How do you adjust the justification (e.g., left, right, centered) of a Multiline object during editing?

a. Modify the Text Style settings.
b. Click the ruler above the text editing frame.
c. Justification cannot be altered after text creation.
d. Use tools in the Text Editor contextual tab's Paragraph panel on the ribbon.

4. The abc that appears at the first corner of a Multiline text box reflects what?

a. The current Text Style.
b. The default Text Height.
c. abc is for TrueType fonts (xyz is for SHX fonts)
d. The Spell Check feature is enabled.

5. When adding or editing Multiline text, pressing Enter ends the MTEXT command.

a. True
b. False

6. Which of the following is not a setting in the Text Style Manager?

      a. Uppercase
      b. Oblique Angle
      c. Backwards
      d. Upside Down

7. Which statement is accurate about Multileaders?

      a. The leader and its text (or block) are distinct objects.
      b. The square grip at the leader line's end relocates the multileader.
      c. The leader and its text (or block) are a single object.
      d. The arrow grip on the leader's landing adjusts the leader line's pointing direction.

8. You can use either pre-defined or user-supplied blocks in your Multileader style.

      a. True
      b. False